The migration is a transferring herd, no longer a scheduled match. Herds succeed in the Mara in July, however crossings rely upon rain, grass and predator rigidity.

Many visitors book August anticipating each day crossings and go away 4 day safari from Nairobi to Masai Mara upset. A bigger plan is three or four nights with a versatile booklet and no constant expectation.

Outside July to October, the Mara still promises ideal considerable cat viewing on account that resident predators keep. Judge an itinerary by way of guiding first-rate and section, no longer through migration promises. Honest timing notes are at %LINK%.
