For newbie drivers, the journey starts at an accredited driving school (Autósiskola) and culminates at the main testing center.

Step 1: Medical Fitness Assessment

Before enrolling in a driving school, candidates should get a medical certificate of physical fitness to drive from a family doctor (GP). This involves a fundamental medical examination covering vision, hearing, and basic physical and psychological well-being.

Action 2: Theory Course and Exam

Applicants need to finish a theoretical training course (typically offered online in English for expats) covering traffic rules, roadway signs, and car mechanics. As soon as completed, the candidate passes a main computer-based multi-choice exam administered by KAV.

Action 3: Practical Training (The Road Hours)

Upon passing the theory test, the student selects an instructor for useful driving lessons. In Hungary, an obligatory minimum number of driving hours need to be finished before a trainee is permitted to take the useful examination.
