What is Plinko and How Does It Work?

At its core, Plinko is a game of chance based on possibility and physics simulation. When a player starts a round, they drop a puck (or ball) from the top of a pyramid-shaped board filled with obstacles-- normally pegs. As the disc falls, it bounces off these pegs in a randomized trajectory until it lands in among the slots at the bottom.

Each slot corresponds to a particular multiplier, which figures out the payment for the round. The slots located towards the center of the board usually provide lower multipliers (and even result in a loss), while the slots towards the external edges normally offer significantly greater benefits, reflecting the lower mathematical probability of the puck landing there.
