2. CCTV Monitoring: Test rooms are heavily kept an eye on, and recordings are audited frequently by quality control teams.

They use protected online verification websites where they input the candidate's TRF number to view their scores directly from the central database. If a score is not in the database, the certificate is right away flagged as phony.

2. Academic Expulsion and Job Termination

Many universities and employers carry out post-enrollment or post-hire audits. If a fraudulent certificate is found months and even years later on:

- Students face immediate expulsion without a refund of tuition costs.
- Experts deal with immediate termination for gross misbehavior and credential scams.
- Professional licenses (for nurses, medical professionals, engineers, and so on) may be completely revoked.

3. Vulnerability to Blackmail and Extortion

Fraudsters operating these online schemes know their clients are engaging in illegal activities. When a victim pays the preliminary deposit, scammers often develop "unforeseen issues"-- such as customized fees, database clearance charges, or kickbacks for officials-- and demand more money.
