

Kansas's total loss threshold is 75 percent of a vehicle's value, meaning a low vehicle value combined with an paintless hail damage repair inflated initial damage estimate can sometimes push a repairable car over that line unnecessarily. Hail Solutions Paintless Dent Repair can provide a supplement with accurate paintless dent repair pricing, which often pulls the estimated repair cost back under the total loss threshold. This matters significantly for drivers whose insurance company initially estimates repair costs using traditional body shop pricing rather than the typically lower cost of paintless dent repair.
