

Students preparing for ABRSM examinations in Singapore have specific instrument requirements. The grade being studied, the repertoire being performed, and the student's own physical development all influence what constitutes the right instrument at any given stage. LVL Music Academy's violin shop is well equipped to advise ABRSM students and their families on instrument selection at every grade level. Head luthier Alan Senejani understands the technical demands of ABRSM repertoire and can assess whether a student's current instrument is limiting their ability to produce the tone and articulation required at their examination grade. For students approaching the higher grades, in particular Grades 6 to 8 and Diploma level, an instrument upgrade often has a significant positive impact on examination performance and the experience of practising. Principal Janice Senejani, who has taught ABRSM students at some of Singapore's leading schools, works closely with the shop team to ensure that instrument recommendations align with the pedagogical requirements of each student's learning journey. This integration between the teaching and retail sides of LVL is a genuine differentiator for ABRSM candidates.
