At its core, Aviator is a multiplayer social game developed around an increasing multiplier curve that can "crash" at any moment. Unlike conventional slots where a random number generator (RNG) determines the outcome of a static spin, Aviator offers gamers a sense of company.

The property is stealthily basic:

1. A plane takes off on the screen.
2. As the aircraft climbs higher, the multiplier attached to the player's bet boosts.
3. The goal is to squander before the plane flies away (crashes).
4. If a gamer cashes out in time, they win their stake multiplied by the present coefficient. If the aircraft flies away before they squander, the bet is lost.

The game's visual is deliberately minimalist, reminiscent of early computer system graphics, which guarantees it runs smoothly on both desktop and mobile phones without lagging.
